

In a few days, the first stage of an exchange project with the company Arts Fission Singapore will start!

“About potatoes, rice and other delicacies”

A recipe concocted by two dance companies
A cultural exchange project composed with attractive flavors from Asia and Eupen ...

*Fried fish for breakfast? Or maybe porridge?
Grains or cereals, like birds? Spoons, chopsticks, hands or a 12-piece-cutlery set? What does „the other“ mean by „hot“? Why do I think I will surely starve if I don't get any potatoes? How do I feel about having bits of a dead animal on my plate?*

Eating habits can be ever so different, depending on cultural, developmental, geographical, climatical and spiritual circumstances. But, eating is also what brings us together and what arouses your curiosity. The first approach of another culture, another country more often passes by ... our taste buds! Sharing a meal is one of our first cultural events; dinner together, away from home, with strangers is our first act of overcoming borders.

Dance companies Arts Fission from Singapore and Irene K. from Belgium will share their visions in a common creation. One will explore the aquatic environment conducive to the cultivation of rice; the second will develop the land force from which emerges the potato.

The first stage of this project will take place in Belgium, Eupen, during the month of November.

The result of this "appetizer" will be presented the 30th of November 2014, 5pm at our Belgian studio, Werthplatz, 48 in Eupen.

Follow the project's progress through our face book group: "About Potatoes, rice and other delicacies”